

CHAPTER 3

SO, WHAT?

When we inaugurate an event, most of it will enrapture but the real catch is to make such occurrence and the involvements worth a count. With a similar notion, my engagement and participation in the various activities within this module had a lesson to learn.

Being an introvert gives an immense desire to simply stand alone on the road and bring out the best observations into play but on the side of the ocean, engagement, interactions, and teamwork are also vital components like corporate medicine thus, I have been learning that too keeping my nature intact. And from the initiative of this module, not just eradicates the branch of stubbornness but also ensures to cultivate healthy communication and collective efforts to make the group shine as well as support and guide to make each other's work fit within the pipeline.

Being a part of diverse and distinct group members throughout the activities, opens the gates to the multi-linguistic and multi-cultural crowd with different backgrounds and ideologies, contrasting life principles and as chalk and cheese approach. And thus, a heterogeneous group always embeds more values and respect for people with varying origins. The various team activities such as organizing a conference, the artist activity, etc help in inculcating the trust within a team, in a hope to achieve a common goal.
